FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE | AUGUST 21, 2006

Cleveland, Ohio—August 21, 2006

Peggy Foley Jones, Republican judicial candidate and retired judge announces her withdrawal from the judicial race to pursue a career opportunity with the Cleveland-based business litigation firm of Giffen & Kaminski, LLC.

According to Jones, “Giffen & Kaminski presented me with the opportunity to grow an arbitration and mediation practice. My work will center around offering a method to efficiently resolve civil disputes of all types using a process that is more private, far timelier and less expensive than typical trials.”

Kerin Lyn Kaminski is enthusiastic about the potential this partnership creates. Kerin said, “We assessed the current business trends and believe that there is a market for a comprehensive arbitration and mediation practice. As a firm dedicated to delivering practical results to their business clients, it is a perfect fit to have Peggy join the GK team.”

Karen Giffen, co-founder of Giffen & Kaminski said, “..As a retired state court judge, Peggy Foley Jones is well-respected in both the legal and business communities. Peggy is extremely knowledgeable and she shares the same core values and passion for the legal process that our entire team embraces.”

Giffen & Kaminski (www.thinkgk.com) is committed to providing clients with practical results in litigation in the areas of Commercial Contract Disputes, Uniform Commercial Code Litigation, Employment and Labor, Business Torts, Bankruptcy and Creditor’s Rights. The Firm also provides representation in the areas of Real Estate, Construction and Title Insurance Litigation, Securities Litigation and Product Liability. Giffen & Kaminski represents a variety of clients, including: financial services companies, title companies, manufacturers, healthcare providers, professional services firms and insurance companies.
